Spring 2016

From The Director's Chair

The HTMS "word of the day" is: Internships

A big Hospitality-filled "hello" from the hallowed halls of Stockton University. Our big news in the HTMS program is that our new, experientially-focused curriculum was launched this spring. Our 12-credit co-op course has been replaced with a brand-new Internship class. We are off and running with the new program, and early results are extremely positive.

But, we didn't just slap an Internship course into place. Instead, we created a four-course sequence called the "Experiential Learning Sequence" (ELS) Students begin with a 400-hour Professional Work Experience, followed by our Career Development course, the 225-hour Internship, and it is all topped off with a Capstone Class to bring classroom learning and real-world experience together. We made these changes in response to both student and industry requests for a more flexible, work-related curriculum. Our new Internship class is an

"anytime/anywhere" experience. For example, this summer, the 35 students in Internship will not only be scattered throughout New Jersey, but also at locations such as Disney World, and even on cruise ships. And, for the first time, they will be able to take the Internship class in the summertime – exactly the time when they want to work, and your companies NEED them to be working.

If you want more information about the Internship class, including downloadable forms and videos of students on the job, be sure to check out

HTMS BBQ Mixer

By: Erin McManamy

On Thursday, September 17 the Stockton University Society gathered to kick off their year in style at the TRLC quad. The Hospitality Society, an organization that caters to all HTMS students and other interested parties for professional development and networking, hosted their 1st Annual Hospitality Society BBQ Mixer! The event lasted about two hours with Chartwells providing a BBQ style menu. New and returning society members had the opportunity to meet each other by playing volleyball, ladderball, KanJam, & more! Many HTMS faculty members joined the students to introduce themselves and get to know some of our newest HTMS majors. All in all, the Hospitality Society BBQ Mixer paved the way for a productive and fun year ahead for all HTMS students.

Event Planning class hosts Prom!

By: Kelly Kennedy

During Spring 2016 semester Professor Michael Scales' Event Planning and Catering Management class took on the task of planning the first ever prom for Covenant House of Atlantic City. The Covenant House is the largest privately funded charity in the Americas providing loving care and vital services to homeless, abandoned, abused, trafficked, and exploited youth between the ages of 18-21. In September, Dena Ferone was given the name of Dr. Michael Scales, shortly after they were in contact and she shared her idea of having a prom for the youths at the Covenant House. Many of these young adults have never experienced a prom which Dena explained to the Events Planning class, after which they agreed to plan the prom. One of the first hurdles was the fact that there were absolutely no funds, everything would have to be donated. The Hospitality and Tourism students were very excited to donate their time to a great cause.

Leading up to the event the class, and a committee of community members, worked on getting donations.

First goal was to find a date and place, fortunately Noyes Art Garage of Stockton University was available on the date decided. Friends of the Hospitality and Tourism program including ICON Hospitality (Gourmet Italian Cuisine and The Carriage House), Atlantic City Ambassadors, and Steve and Cookies Restaurant in Margate generously donated the food items, while other donated services including nail and hair salons, dresses, tuxedos, shoes, limousines, photographers, a DJ with light show, a photo booth with props, and boxes of sweets and chocolates as parting gift favors. The event occurred on April 6, 2016 at the Noyes Art Garage in Atlantic City from 6:30-9:00 p.m. The youths of the Covenant House looked great arriving by limousine and were so excited to be at the event and danced the night away. The event could not have been possible without the donors, student volunteers, and the staff of the Covenant House. These same students were Ambassadors for the Stockton Scholarship Gala on April 16.

Eta Sigma Delta

By: Kelly Prince

Congratulations to all members that were inducted into the Eta Sigma Delta Hospitality Management Honor Society!

This year the honor society set out to reach out further into the community. The honor society worked closely with the Center for Community Engagement who is affiliated with the after school tutoring programs in Atlantic City, Buzby Homes

Village and Stanley Holmes Village. Through Eta Sigma Delta's very first fundraiser, they were able to raise over $300 in two days by selling Krispy Kreme donuts. This money was used to provide all 52 children in the after school tutoring program with holiday gift bags that were filled with an educational workbook, art activity, a small toy and holiday candy. The following semester, Eta Sigma Delta held a book drive to collect books, flashcards, workbooks and educational games for Buzby Homes Village. This collection was a huge success that brought over 30 books for the program to start their own library for the children. The impact the members left on the tutoring program is beyond words.

On Sunday April 17, the great accomplishments of the honor society were celebrated and all 24 members were welcomed into Eta Sigma Delta. The event was led by Professor Lema whose hard work and dedication could be seen through the execution of a wonderful ceremony. The inductees had the honor to have guest speaker and Honorary Inductee Justin Lucas. Justin Lucas is a graduate of the Hospitality Management program and now the President and CEO of ICON Hospitality, where he oversees all day-to-day operations of the company. The inductees found inspiration in the fellow Stockton graduate who started in the very seats they sat in, as he reminded them that they must remember where they came from and who they represent. Beginning in the first Hospitality Management class of just four students to the 200+ students in the program today. Justin remained involved in his alma mater throughout his path to success. The inductees were honored to have such a humbling individual speak before them and remind them of why they were all there. The ceremony was a wonderful celebration for inductees, faculty, family and friends to celebrate the hard work from all.

"Deepher Dude" Pageant

By Joe Huntenburg

The Sisters of Delta Phi Epsilon Sorority of Stockton University hosted the first Annual Deepher Dude competition on April 13th. Deepher Dude is a male beauty pageant hosted by all of the sorority chapters across the nation and Canada. All the proceeds from the event went to their national philanthropy, the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation. Cystic fibrosis (CF) is a chronic disease that affects the lungs and digestive system of about 70,000 children and adults worldwide and a cure has yet to be found. Every male who entered the competition had to represent at least on school organization. I entered to represent Stockton University's chapter of Eta Sigma Delta International Hospitality Management Society.

This was Stockton University's first ever Deepher Dude because Delta Phi Epsilon Sorority was just founded on the campus. After competing in the six categories: opening act, spirit wear, talent, formal wear, and the question round, I was crowned the first ever Deepher Dude of Stockton University. Not only did I win the crown and the event run so smoothly, the organization raised over twelve hundred dollars for the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation. I had a great time meeting so many new people around the campus, and really working together through the completion to raise money for the victims of cystic fibrosis.

Noel Criscione-Naylor

Before joining Stockton University, Noel Criscione-Naylor has served Caesars Entertainment and the casino industry for the last 9 years. Upon graduating from Rutgers University with a Bachelor of Arts Degree in Political Science and a Master's Degree in Public Policy and Administration, Noel began her career in the industry as a Training and Development professional at Bally's Hotel and Casino. She quickly demonstrated herself as a high-performing, multi-certified training leader and achieved a record of delivering best-in-class learning programming that consistently delivered improved engagement and performance levels across the hospitality spaces. As the Corporate Manager of Instructional Design, Noel was asked to develop advanced Lean and Six Sigma capability in the organization in which she moved from a Human Resources career to operations in 2010.

As the Regional Director of Continuous Improvement for Harrah's, Caesars, Bally's and Showboat, Noel led an advanced team of five to implement common processes, recommended staffing and financial goals, and implemented operational best practices gained from industry. She later became the Corporate Director of Operational Excellence leading continuous improvement initiatives and launching a new department, Centralized Scheduling, across the enterprise. In launching a new department of 100 employees across 14 hotel and casino properties, Noel developed job descriptions, standard operating procedures (SOPs), and managed hiring and training. She and her team focused on developing and implementing productivity tools including Virtual Roster and providing operational support to leadership while compiling labor forecasting and scheduling analysis in alignment with union contracts and gaming regulations. Over the course of Noel's career, she has worked in numerous operations including Food & Beverage, Housekeeping, Front Desk, Facilities, Slots, Casino Cage, Marketing, and Table games with leading 41+ projects that enhanced the customer experience with positive shifts in service and amounting to over $40 million in company savings.

In 2015, Noel finished her doctorate in Educational Leadership from Rowan University in which she decided to leverage her career and network of talented hospitality leaders to develop future leaders of the industry. She joins a distinguished faculty and looks forward to contributing to the Hospitality and Tourism Management program, preparing students with substantial training and specialized skills that will distinguish their credentials. She currently teaches Intro to Hospitality and Tourism Management, Hotel Administration, and Facilities Management.

The Stockton Event Planners Club

In 2016 a group of determined founding officers, under the leadership of Alexis Jacopec, established The Stockton Event Planners (SEP) club (See below). Over just two semesters the group has built a strong membership of 15 enthusiastic students for whom they sponsored many educational event-planning activities. Guest speakers included Kathy Evans from All The Best Weddings & Celebrations who spoke about crisis prevention, Tropicana Vice President, Jim Ziereis covering corporate events, Jasmine Cianfione, owner and planner of This Moment Events, and Elizabeth McGlenn, the Director of Operations at One Atlantic. In addition to Elizabeth's visit, she hosted the group on a visit to the beautiful One Atlantic event venue where the club was treated to a mock bridal tour and a tasting of selected wedding foods. Jim Ziereis generously hosted the group at the Top of the Trop for a dinner and presentation on personal branding with the International Special Event Society. The evening was one of the highlights of the semester.

SEP members participated actively in campus activities like Night of Sex, Awareness of Eating Disorders, Stress Less Day and Day in the Life. They also volunteered at several Atlantic City events and expos to gain hands on experience in event management. The year concluded with a pizza party where event planning teams were given an "event in a bag" and asked to plan an event from random items selected by a member of the executive board. The year was quite eventful, no pun intended. Officers elected for next year are as follows President : Melanie Ann Dunay, Vice President: Claire Repisky, Secretary: Shaina Skelton, Treasurer: Leighanna Ritter, Volunteer Coordinator: Tara McGowan, Public Relations: Amanda Murray

Tara Marsh

Tara Marsh graduated with her Associates in Culinary Arts from Atlantic Cape Community College in May 1999. After finishing one more year at ACCC, working in the Hospitality Management Program, Tara decided to transfer to Stockton University where she received her Bachelors of Science in Business Management with a concentration in Hospitality and Tourism Management Studies in May 2003. Shortly after, she received her first job in the industry as Catering Coordinator for the Sheraton Atlantic City and it would be a year later that she would be promoted to Catering Sales Manager of the hotel where she resided for the next six years before taking a leap of faith and moving to the “Big Apple” to become one of five Catering Sales Managers for University Event Management at Columbia University in New York City. Tara spent the next two years in this position before deciding New York City was not for her, while she loved her job and the people she worked with, she could not bring Columbia University back to New Jersey where her heart was, so it had come time for her to move back to her home in New Jersey. When she moved back, she took an Assistant Store Manager position with Aeropostale on The Walk in Atlantic City as well as becoming a 13D Instructor for the HTMS Program at Stockton for the 2014/2015 Academic Year.

During her tenure at the Sheraton, Tara decided to go back to school and further her education, acquiring her Master’s in Business Administration, also from Stockton University in December 2009. Once she finished her Master’s, she became an Adjunct Professor for the HTMS Program and although holding the 13D position for one year, she has been teaching on and off with the program for the last six years.

It was not until recently, February 2016, that Tara took on the full-time role of the newly appointed position of Hospitality and Tourism Management Studies Internship Coordinator for the HTMS Program here at Stockton University. She brings a vast amount of not only knowledge of the industry itself, but connections in the local area to help students obtain their required internships for graduation from the program.

Tara enjoys spending time with her family and friends and continuously studying many aspects of the Hospitality Industry, specifically the Food & Beverage segment, as she loves to attend various festivals and events attaining to food as well as preparing gourmet meals for her loved ones. She is looking forward to the exciting adventures her new position will bring, along with helping not only the current students of the HTMS Program, but her soon-to-be fellow alumni, and finally coming “home” to Stockton!

Hospitality and Tourism Management Program receives AACSB Accreditation as part of the Stockton University's School of Business

Stockton University's School of Business, which includes all Business Programs and Hospitality and Tourism Management, earned accreditation by the Association to Advance Collegiate Schools of Business (AACSB), an international body whose accreditation has been earned by less than 5 percent of the world's business programs.

Accreditation by the AACSB is considered the hallmark of excellence, and we are proud that Stockton is among such select company worldwide. Dean Janet Wagner and our distinguished faculty deserve to be recognized for the academic pre-eminence of the School of Business, which is one of only five institutions in the United States to have earned this accreditation in the past year.

"The School of Business, which was established as a separate school at Stockton in 2007, achieved this recognition after undergoing the rigorous accreditation process, which typically takes five to seven years," Wagner explained.

"AACSB accreditation adds prestige to our graduates' degrees," Wagner said. "Prospective students and their families often ask about accreditation, and graduate schools look favorably on degrees from AACSB-accredited schools.

"This provides more global awareness of the high quality of education at Stockton, reflected in the fact that over 75 percent of School of Business courses are taught by full-time faculty members," Wagner noted.
