

Lenape High School, located in Burlington County, NJ, is in need of an interim English teacher effective immediately through March 2022.

We offer competitive contract salary and full family benefits package for this interim position. New Jersey teacher certification is required, and we are willing to assist candidates who have an English degree with the alternate route to teaching certification process. We often hire interim teachers into tenure-track positions as they become available within our district.

Please forward this posting to students who may be interested and ask that they contact me directly at pmacgregor@lrhsd.org. Thank you!
