TRANSLATION FELLOWSHIP - Fortunoff Video Archive for Holocaust Testimonies

“The Fortunoff Video Archive for Holocaust Testimonies is offering a one-year Translation Fellowship, with opportunity for renewal. The fellowship is designed to support translation into English of texts deemed of critical importance to Holocaust studies, with a particular emphasis on works that deal with audiovisual and/or written testimony, memoirs, and other important underexamined primary materials.

This year’s fellowship will focus on the production of an English translation of Christoph Dieckmann’s two-volume Deutsche Besatzungspolitik in Litauen 1941-1944.

The fellow will be expected to correspond with the author to ensure the most authentic, accurate translation of the original work, and to present frequent translation samples to document progress during their tenure.”

The submission deadline for applications is May 1, 2020
