Fellowship Opportunity: JDC Archives Fellowship Program

Up to seven fellowships will be awarded each year to deserving scholars engaged in graduate level, post-doctoral, or independent study to conduct research in the JDC Archives, either in New York or Jerusalem. Research topics in the fields of twentieth century Jewish history, general history, and humanitarian assistance will be considered, as well as other areas of academic research covered in the JDC archival collections. Candidates must submit applications by January 26, 2021 to the JDC Archives online. An Academic Advisory Committee consisting of leading scholars and members of the JDC Archives Committee will be responsible for selecting the fellows.

Application deadline: January 26, 2021

https://archives.jdc.org/about-us/fellowships-and-grants-general-information/

Employment Opportunity: Education Program Specialist for The Holocaust, Genocide and Human Rights Education Initiative at The Penn State University

The Holocaust, Genocide and Human Rights Education Initiative at The Penn State University seeks candidates for a full-time Education Program Specialist with a desired February 1, 2021 start date. The program specialist is a key member of this innovative, multidisciplinary effort to provide K-12 educators in Pennsylvania and other locations with the instructional material, support, and professional development (PD) they need to effectively teach difficult topics such as the Holocaust, bigotry, and trauma.

Application deadline: Application review will begin December 1, 2020 and continue until interviews are scheduled.

https://psu.wd1.myworkdayjobs.com/PSU_Staff/job/University-Park-Campus/Education-Program-Specialist_REQ_0000008102-1