The Annual Kristallnacht Lecture Remembering the Holocaust & Emigration: The Moritz and Hammerschlag Families

In foreground, Lennard (L) and Mark (R) Hammerschlag
In background, Stockton Professor Dr. Michael Hayse (L) and Jürgen Schröder (R), Director of the local history museum in Lauenau.

Lennard Hammerschlag's parents, Wally (Moritz) and Lutz Hammerschlag were both young when the experiences of the Pogrom of November 1938 spurred their families to emigrate from Germany. Both families found refuge in the only place they could secure a visa: Rhodesia (today Zimbabwe). An exhibition about their experiences was installed in the Chabad at the Shore synagogue in 2017. Since then, Lennard continues to meet with Germans who are working to document the Jewish history of the towns where his parents were born, and to commemorate the horrors of the Holocaust. Lennard Hammerschlag and Dr. Michael Hayse will discuss what they have learned about the experiences of the extended Hammerschlag and Moritz families.
