Galloway Township, NJ- Colorful makeup, elaborate costumes, acrobatic movements and music are all part of a show that will introduce viewers to the world of Chinese traditional drama during International Education Week at The Richard Stockton College of New Jersey.

“Amazing China,” performed by members of the Confucius Institute of Chinese Opera at Binghamton University - State University of New York, will feature nine performances that showcase the different elements of Chinese drama such as acrobatics, martial arts, instrumental music, Chinese opera and vocals.

The show, sponsored by the Office of International Services, the School of Education and the School of Arts and Humanities, will be held in the Campus Center Theatre on the main Galloway campus on Monday, November 18, 2013 at 4:30 p.m.

“The event will introduce the ancient Chinese arts, some of which date back to 2,200 years ago,” said JY Zhou, internationalization specialist in Stockton’s School of Education and the event organizer. “The performers are the best in Chinese traditional arts, and usually their performances aren’t open to the public, so it is really a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to see this show.”

Admission is free. For more information, contact JY Zhou at 609-626-5593 or JY.Zhou@Stockton.edu.
