Galloway Township, NJ- The Richard Stockton College of New Jersey will host the annual Jersey Shore Science Fair Program on Saturday, March 21, 2009, from 8:00 a.m. through 3:00 p.m. in the College's Sports Center, adjacent to parking lots 4, 5 and 6.

More than 600 students from grades six through twelve will present 500 projects, making this one of the largest fairs of its kind in the Delaware Valley area.

Sponsored by the Natural Sciences and Mathematics Division of the College and the FAA Tech Center, the event showcases the talents of budding scientists from Atlantic, Cape May, Ocean and Monmouth Counties.

The Jersey Shore Science Fair is one of 11 student competitions held each year in Delaware, New Jersey and Pennsylvania that send its winners on to compete at the Delaware Valley Science Fair.

Admission to the event is free and public viewing time is 12 noon to 1:00 p.m. For more information please go to <http://www.jssf.us/index.htm> or contact Cathy Jaggard from the FAA Tech Center at 609-233-1037.
