

Photos: New Freshman Class Moves into Stockton College Aug. 29

For Immediate Release

Friday, August 29, 2014

Contact: Susan Allen
Office of News & Media Relations
Galloway Township, NJ 08205
Susan.Allen@stockton.edu
(609) 652-4790

Galloway Township, NJ- Blue carts overflowing with bedding, clothes and dorm room accessories were rolled through the parking lots as student leaders, family and friends helped new freshmen move into campus housing at The Richard Stockton College of New Jersey on Friday, Aug. 29.

New freshman Clare Sullivan, of Howell, NJ plans to major in Physical Therapy. She chose Stockton because "it felt like home when I first visited."

Seniors Octavius Obey, of Newark, and Manar Hussein, of Atlantic City, volunteered to help new freshmen make their rooms their new homes until winter break. Their advice to new students is to network with upperclassmen, get involved in campus life, and to balance work and fun through time management.

JD Smith and Steven Hoffman, both of Linwood, have been best friends since they were three. Now they are roommates.

Lots of hugs were exchanged among families and their new freshmen.

Download jpegs and captions on Flickr:

https://www.flickr.com/photos/stockton_edu/sets/72157646990740891/

#