Galloway Township, NJ- The Richard Stockton College of New Jersey's Center on Successful Aging (SCOSA) will conduct a "Take Better Pictures" Workshop presented by Judith Heyman at the Noyes Museum of Art on September 20, 2011 from 10:00 am to 1:00 pm.

Judith Heyman will demonstrate how to get the best shot by choice, not chance and compose the photos your family will be proud to hang on the wall.

Bring your cameras to practice as you learn. Bring some of your recent photos to get tips on how to improve your shots.

This workshop is free to area older adults and requires pre-registration. To register contact the Noyes Museum of Art by phone (609-652-8848), email (ahuman@noyesmuseum.org) or visit the Noyes at 733 Lily Lake Road, Oceanville, NJ.

For more information log onto SCOSA's website at www.stockton.edu/scosa .
