

GLOBALIZATION LECTURE SERIES

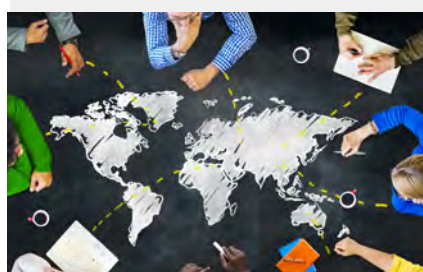

By introducing a variety of global topics across disciplines, the Globalization Lecture Series aims to support students to develop global awareness as well as broad and critical perspectives of the global world, developments, and opportunities. All students, faculty, staff, and community members are welcome.

Thursdays | 4:30PM | Zoom

<https://tinyurl.com/StocktonGLS>

| DATE | PRESENTER | TITLE |
|----------------------|---|--|
| January 27 | Lauren Balasco | Introducing Global Studies: An Overview of the Field |
| February 17 | Tino Villanueva (Boston University) | Poems from Then and Now |
| March 3 | Nusret Sahin & Mariam Majd | Global Economic Risks: Turkey's Weakening Economy |
| March 8 (12:30pm) | Sophia Emmanouilidou (Aristotle University of Thessaloniki, Greece) | Ecofeminism: From -isms of Domination to Regenerative Synergies (co-sponsored by AMST, WGSS, OGE, GSM, & AUTH) |
| April 7 | Eric Hoyt | "Do you know where your clothes are made?": Sweatshop Labor Conditions in Global Garments |

Stockton is an Equal Opportunity Institution.

stockton.edu

For questions about accessibility or to request an accommodation, please contact the Office of Event Services and Campus Center Operations at 609.652.4878 or event.services@stockton.edu at least 5 business days in advance of your participation or visit.

Sponsored by the Global Studies Minor & Office of Global Engagement

Contact Dr. Lauren Balasco or Dr. JY Zhou if you have any questions.