

AFGHANISTAN AT RISK: POLITICS, REFUGEES, AND WOMEN'S RIGHTS

Thursday, September 23, 2021 | 12:30 - 2:00 pm | Online via Zoom
(Registration Required)

The Stockton community is invited to join "Afghanistan at Risk: Politics, Refugees, and Women's Rights." During this panel discussion Dr. Robert Nichols, Professor of History at Stockton University, will join in conversation with several experts and scholars to discuss the ongoing crisis in Afghanistan. Featured panelists include: Dr. Husnul Amin, Executive Director of Iqbal International Institute for Research & Dialogue at the International Islamic University Islamabad, Lucy Rabbaa, Director of Social Services for HIAS Pennsylvania, and Sunita Viswanath, Founder of Women for Afghan Women.

This event is part of the Globalization Lecture Series, and is held in cooperation with Global Studies, Historical Studies, Office of Global Engagement, and Master of Arts in Holocaust and Genocide Studies at Stockton University. Please contact mahg@stockton.edu or 609-652-4699 with any questions about this event.

<https://bit.ly/38XMLtE>

STOCKTON
UNIVERSITY
SCHOOL OF
ARTS & HUMANITIES
HISTORICAL STUDIES

STOCKTON
UNIVERSITY
GLOBAL ENGAGEMENT

STOCKTON
UNIVERSITY
SCHOOL OF
GENERAL STUDIES
GLOBAL STUDIES

STOCKTON
UNIVERSITY
MASTER OF ARTS IN
HOLOCAUST & GENOCIDE STUDIES