GALLOWAY TWP., NJ – The Richard Stockton College of New Jersey has named the 2008-09 awardees of the Joseph Berkman and Michael and Sara Chipkin Holocaust/Genocide Studies Scholarships, established to honor the memory of Sarah and Michael Chipkin and Joseph Berkman, victims of the Nazis during World War II and the Holocaust.

Stockton is home of the nation's first Master's program in Holocaust and Genocide Studies, a program that is attracting students from throughout the country. The students who were selected for these scholarships are all enrolled in this program.

The College also integrates Holocaust and Genocide Studies into its undergraduate curriculum, and provides teacher training in Holocaust and Genocide Education each year through its Holocaust Resource Center.

The scholarships honor Joseph Berkman who was murdered by the Nazis in 1942 in the "Killing Fields of Ponary", in Lithuania. The late Sarah and Michael Chipkin were Holocaust Survivors. They immigrated to the United States following the war and established a successful business. The Berkman-Chipkin Scholarships for 2008-2009 were awarded to outstanding graduate students who plan to or are currently pursuing teaching careers.

The Berkman-Chipkin Scholarships have been awarded annually since 1999 and are made possible through the continued generosity of Don and Nan Berkman and their family. Their endowment gift of $100,000 generates income each year to support scholarship awards for Stockton's best and brightest students to study the Holocaust and other genocides. The College matches funds each year that are made available through the endowment, increasing the funds available for students.

The recipients include Patricia Chiappine of Hammonton, NJ; Shawna Beals of Seabrook, NJ; Maria Hoover of Sicklerville, NJ; Ida Malloy of Trenton, NJ; Trinity Rufus of Bellefontaine, Ohio; Sheila Solhtalab of Toledo, Ohio; and Nicole Straub of Asheville, NC.
