Galloway Township, NJ –Murphy Writing of Stockton University will host the Shore Thing Writing Getaway on Saturday, June 20 from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. at Dante Hall Theater, located at 14 N. Mississippi Ave. in Atlantic City.

The program is currently accepting registrations from community members and Stockton students who are interested in writing fiction, nonfiction or poetry.

Seminar leader Peter Murphy, an adjunct professor at Stockton University, will utilize the method he has developed during his 35 years of teaching writing. Participants will discuss the craft issues facing professionals and then write to several prompts challenging expression and discovery. Writers will share their work in read-around sessions.

“Writing is typically a solitary act,” Murphy explained. “But when writers come together in a supportive community that encourages them to push their boundaries, they often experience breakthroughs.”

“I loved this event,” said Farrah Pileggi of Manahawkin, who attended last year. “Peter offered great insight into the craft of writing in an honest, down-to-earth way. The reading selections were great examples and the prompts were perfectly challenging.”

The $80 tuition includes lunch and seven hours of professional development credit. Advance registration is required. For more information or to register, visit www.murphywriting.com/shore or call 609-626-3594.
